Conecta FICCIÓN announces the 10 projects selected for the international PITCH COPRO SERIES and the 5 finalists in the new PITCH DIGISERIES category.

- The session for the Pitching of International Co-production for TV Series and Miniseries, Pitch Copro Series, has received hundreds of projects for its second edition.
- The new Pitch Digiseries section targets series production for any platform and device.

Madrid, May 29, 2018 - Conecta FICCIÓN reveals the official selection of the 10 projects chosen for the Pitch Copro Series, its session for the Pitching of International Co-production for TV Series and Miniseries. Also presented is the list of the 5 finalist projects for the digital series pitching, Pitch Digiseries, one of the latest additions to the international event, and which will celebrate its second edition this year.

Focused on the search for partners to co-produce the Pitch Copro Series internationally, it is open to the participation of professionals from the Americas as well as from other European countries, on the basis that the projects presented must be relevant for the cultural world on both continents. The 10 selected projects for this edition may also choose the development contracts offered by RTVE and Movistar +, respectively.

The Editorial Committee of Conecta FICCIÓN is responsible for selecting the finalist projects and has had to evaluate almost a hundred projects received from 15 countries. 58% of the projects received are European, 29% Latin American, and 13% were received from the United States. The predominant theme this year has been drama, followed by thrillers, with both genres together making up about 60% of the projects received, while comedy accounts for 12% of the total.

The session for the Pitching of International Co-production, Pitch Copro Series, will be held on Tuesday, June 19. The 10 selected projects are:
